Description

The multi purpose shipping warmer is very flexible in its range of possible applications. Whilst it is mainly used for shipping animals and plants in the winter time, it also can be used for keeping many other temperature sensitive goods safe during the transportation in low temperature conditions.

Further you can use this shipping warmer to extend the duration of your batteries by keeping them warm in a cold environment. Especially photographers appreciate these warmers on their expeditions.

How to use:

After opening the package the oxygen of the air will react with the iron powder inside the warmer and after 40 minutes you can feel how the warmer is heating up. You can now place the shipping warmer in your transport box, pocket or pillow case. The warmer will generate heat for about 40hrs. Please make sure, that enough oxygen can reach the marked side of the warmer, thus do not cover it with tape, bags or anything else airtight.

We can custom samples according to your requirements.

Shipping Warmer

Excellent for shipping live plants, flowers, reptiles, fish, insects, and more.
